K-Dimensional Tree (KdTree)

A space-partitioning data structure used to organize points in a multi-dimensional space. It is a specific type of Binary Search Tree that recursively divides data into "half-spaces" using hyperplanes (fancy word for "straight cuts") aligned with the coordinate axes.

Max Example

2D Sound Browser